

In the summer 2014 Dag and Katarina have lived half of their lives in the same house

---

We moved to the house we live in now (Marmorv 133, Umeå) from Upplands Väsby (Eddav 10) 780905.

Katarina has lived half her life in the house May 25 2014. It is the same day as the election to the EU parliament.

Dag, who is older, has lived half his life in the house at Aug 14 2014, which is also a remarkable day as Sweden has enjoyed 200 year peace since that day,

Dag	Katarina
1942-09-27	1942-12-17	födelsedag
1978-09-05	1978-09-05	Inflyttning Marmorv 133
13127	13046	Antal dagar mellan födelse och inflyttning
35,89	35,67	År
26254	26092	Dubbla antalet dagar
2014-08-14	2014-05-25	Bott halva livet på Marmorv

People move on average 11 times in their lives, and they move less when they are older than 30 and more established, but I have not found a statistic on how common it is.

But almost  $\frac{3}{4}$  of Swedish born live in the same province as they were born. For our extended family, neither Dag nor (Katarina), Jan, Anna or Linnea live in the province they were born, but Olof does. Thus moved more than average Swedes, but this is not age-adjusted.

Of our closest neighbours (seven houses at Marmorv) two are still occupied by the same original couples, while the five others have changed owners. The four who like us came in autumn 1978 are however of different age, so the half time date may vary somewhat.
